

Hello, my name is Maria Terrazas. I am a First-Generation American. My parents are both from Bolivia. I was born in Washington DC. I live in Falls Church, Virginia. I graduated from George Mason University, and I teach Montessori. I am married and have two children. I enjoy traveling, photography, hiking, and spending time with my family and friends. I have always voted in local and presidential elections. However, this last election I felt a deep need in my soul to get active. I was active in social I volunteered with Bilingual phone banks. I helped several coworkers vote early. I help send postcards. I am a moderator for Suburban Women for The People.
